TDP leaders' blanket panchayat to prevent marriage Witness Representative, Kakinada: Girls in the state, Women and Dalits are being left without protection. With the support of the ruling party MLAs, their followers and cadres are getting agitated. Protests are being raised by women and public organizations across the state against the atrocities being committed against women. At this time, Rajahmundry City Telugu Desam Party MLA and state minister Atchannaidu's son-in-law, Adireddy Vasu's chief follower Pulaparthi Satyadev, got a Dalit minor girl (17) pregnant and went around boldly with the support of the ruling party. He continued to lie even after giving birth to her child. The ruling party leaders have been suppressing this matter for a year. They are doing blanket panchayats by promising to give her money and not marry her. When the YSRCP women leaders exposed this injustice, the police finally filed a POCSO case in an unfortunate situation. However, the accused is absconding with the support of the ruling party. The discussion has been going on about TDP elders making a blanket panchayat for money. This incident goes back to the past.. Rajamahendravaram Rural Hukumpet Satyadev had been pursuing a girl from a lower caste for two years, claiming to be in love with her. He deceived her by saying that all the important leaders in the TDP were close to her, and that he would do whatever he told her. The girl believed Satyadev's words and was deceived. He had physical relations with the girl and got her pregnant. When it was discovered that the girl was six months pregnant, she pressured him to marry her. He accused her of being of a lower caste and demanded that she get an abortion.The accused convinced him.. love, marriage Satyadev (File) Complaints are ignored by the police The victim's family members filed a complaint with Rajamahendravaram Rural Bommur CI Kashi Viswanath against Satyadev's fraud. The police did not register a case as the accused was a close aide of TDP MLA Adireddy Vasu. At this time, the ruling party leaders put intense pressure on the family to make a private settlement without filing a case. The solution was to get married. YSRCP women leaders are requesting DSP Vidya and Inspector Kashi Vishwanath to provide justice to the victim (File)

The victim girl and her family members clarified that Ramani was pregnant. The accused postponed the wedding after taking Ayyappa's initiation. In this sequence, the girl reached her eighth month in February this year. Doctors said that abortion was dangerous and performed a caesarean section and took out the baby boy. After the operation, the mother and child are healthy. After that, the child died as if he was there. The victim's family is alleging that Satyadev was the reason for the child's death by not getting treatment. Since then, they have been wandering around Bommur police station demanding justice, but the police have not paid any attention. Due to this, the victim's family filed a complaint with the District Collector on the 4th of this month at the Public Grievance Redressal Forum held at the East Godavari District Collectorate. In this context, the police summoned the accused Satyadev and gave him a week's time to get married. However, justice was not served to the girl. With this, YSRCP women leaders Polu Vijayalakshmi and Marthi Lakshmi revealed this to the media. The matter came to light when they demanded that the girl be given justice according to the law. A Dalit girl was being treated unfairly for a year because of her follower.

Witness, Task Force: Police have set up tight security at the site of the razing of the centuries-old Nagalamma temple at Dami Nedu in Tiruchanur Panchayat limits of Chandragiri constituency in Tirupati district by TDP leader Krishnamurthy Naidu on Saturday. The police, who have already registered a case on the incident, imposed Section 144 on Sunday. Action has been taken to prevent people from both communities from coming near the temple. A picket has been set up with two SIs and about 20 personnel to prevent any violent incidents. Police are also guarding the temple entrance, the temple, and the village. Locals have asked them to allow Nagalamma to offer pongals. The police have told the villagers that no permission can be given until the problem is resolved. The villagers have said that rebuilding the temple there is the solution to the problem and there is no room for any other opinion in this. If this matter is not resolved in a day or two, they will prepare for a large-scale protest.

Clarified. Where is MLA?

Hindu temples are being destroyed by the anarchy of TDP leaders in the coalition government. The demolition of Varahi and Nagalamma temples in Tiruchanur panchayat limits has been a hot topic of discussion for weeks. Hindu organizations across the state are angry that TDP leaders are playing with the sentiments of Hindus. The current coalition leaders, who came on the road on the pretext that an idol was broken somewhere in the previous government, did a lot of damage. Now they are demolishing temples in one go, and people are protesting where they have gone. Local TDP MLA Pulivarthi Nani on the Tiruchanur incidents—locals are angry that they are acting irresponsibly. They are questioning why MLA Nani did not intervene when MLA Pulivarthi Nani's aide Kishore Reddy and former TDP mandal president Krishnamurthy Naidu razed the temples to the ground and created destruction without any trace.

Meanwhile, the temple's assistant Sri Maharudra Varahi Swamy informed that the police have not taken any action so far on the destruction of the Srivarahi Ammavari temple on the banks of the Swarnamukhi river in Tiruchanur on the 11th of this month. He expressed his concern that a nominal case was registered on the attack on the temple staff and the partial destruction of the temple on the 9th of this month. Later, they complained to the police on the 11th about the demolition of the temple, but no action has been taken so far. In this context, the police have registered a case against TDP leader Krishnamurthy Naidu, his son Diwakar, and a few others for the destruction of the Srinagaram temple.

Threats to Representatives of Hindu Communities

Hindu groups have been outraged by the demolition of temples on a large scale. It is known that Hindu groups have been protesting for four days in this regard. It is reported that some people from the ruling TDP have threatened the representatives of the Hindu groups' protection group.

An incident involving the death of a mentally unstable husband occurred in Challapalli Narayana Rao Nagar, Krishna district, and came to light a day late on Sunday as an attempt was made to conceal the matter. According to Challapalli police, Bolem Srinivasa Rao (45) from Devarakota in Ghantasala mandal was married to Mangamma from Chitturpu village 20 years ago. Shortly after their marriage, Srinivasa Rao suffered a severe head injury, reportedly due to being beaten by Mangamma, which led to mental instability. At the time, Mangamma was pregnant and left him, while Srinivasa Rao stayed with his father, Gurunatha Prasad, in Devarakota. Five months ago, Mangamma returned with her son Karthik, claiming she had been living in Challapalli Narayana Rao Nagar and that her husband wished to stay with her. With permission from his father, they stayed in Devarakota for a month before Mangamma took Srinivasa Rao to her house in Challapalli, where she and Karthik went to work daily, leaving Srinivasa Rao, who was mentally unstable, at home. On Saturday morning, Mangamma took Srinivasa Rao to the local police station, claiming that his uncle and sister had beaten him, and showed his injuries to the police. However, later that evening around 5 PM, she called the police and reported that Srinivasa Rao had died while eating rice. During the investigation, police learned that Mangamma had been beating Srinivasa Rao frequently for the past four months, and had also beaten him during their early marriage. On Saturday, she allegedly hit him on the head with a strong object, causing him to collapse and die. Based on a complaint by the deceased's father, SI P.S.V. Subrahmanyam registered a case, and the body was sent to Avanigadda Government Hospital for postmortem. The investigation is being led by CI K. Eshwar Rao.

Palem village: On 25.4.2025, a tragic incident occurred in Palem village where a class 10 student, Kokku Poornamanikantha, who had recently passed his exams in first class, lost his life after being taken by tractor drivers to a clay tractor site where he was killed after falling under it. This is part of a larger pattern of deadly incidents involving clay (soil) tractors in Machilipatnam and the surrounding Bandar Mandal, where the soil mafia has been operating freely and recklessly. In the past two months alone, two people have died and one more is hospitalized due to the unsafe and illegal activities of this mafia. These groups, emboldened after the new coalition government took power, have been looting crores of rupees through illegal soil excavation and transportation, using their influence with political leaders to continue their operations with impunity. In areas like Gopuvanipalem, Mangina, and Mallavolu Garuvu of Gudur Mandal, drivers like Narasimha have died while transporting illegally mined soil, often at high speeds with overloaded tractors. The mafia is also known to bribe and threaten government officials from the police, revenue, and mining departments, many of whom are reportedly complicit in the activities. In villages across Bandar mandal—Pudi, Tapasipudi, Sirivellapalem, Tallapalem, Kanur, Mekavanipalem, Pothepalli, Buddhalapalem, Chinakaragraharam, Pedakaragraharam, Borrapothupalem, Rudravaram, Chinnapuram, Kona, Pedayadara, and Tummalapalem—illegal soil transport continues day and night, endangering villagers. When people die in accidents caused by these vehicles, coalition leaders often force settlements with victim families, using threats or small payouts—such as the case of the Buddalapalem student, where a leader settled the matter for four lakhs at the police station. In another case in Mallavolu, the responsible leaders have not even paid compensation. The soil mafia continues to threaten victims, including a person injured in Machavaram, while authorities remain inactive, and corruption runs unchecked, as officials, in a state of intoxication—literal or metaphorical—collaborate with the mafia to suppress justice and public safety.

Gill acknowledged that Virat Kohli's aggressive leadership style has also influenced the team and him personally. On Bumrah's workload, Gill clarified that the star pacer will not play all five Tests and his availability will depend on conditions and team needs. He concluded by saying the team has no fixed strategy against England's "Bazball" style of play, and that tactics will be adjusted depending on match situations, recognizing that aggression doesn't always succeed.

Vizianagaram District: Recently, intense controversy erupted over reports of a tiger allegedly being killed near Donipalli village, located in the Andhra Forest Beat area of Mentada mandal, Vizianagaram district. According to initial claims, hunters shot a tiger that had been roaming around the Andhra Reservoir area, where sightings were reported over the past few years. Though the tiger reportedly never harmed livestock or humans, it is alleged that claws, teeth, and skin were removed, and the carcass was dragged using ropes.

Local sources alleged a cover-up by a junior forest officer, who, fearing exposure, may have used influence to suppress the incident. Following media reports, a team of three forest officers visited the site and concluded nothing had occurred, based on statements from local tribals.

However, animal lovers and experts have raised concerns, questioning the lack of scientific investigation, such as no proper inspection of footprints or forensic evidence at the suspected site. There's growing skepticism due to the silence from the media after initial coverage and the absence of strong action from forest authorities.

Adding to the concern is the spotlight on a forest department staff member who has remained in the Vizianagaram DFO office for 32 years, allegedly due to strong political backing despite multiple official transfers to forest ranges. Sources within the department suggest that closer scrutiny of this individual may help reveal the truth behind the alleged tiger killing.

Amid growing public outcry, animal lovers have appealed to Deputy CM and Forest Minister Pawan Kalyan to personally intervene. With the national significance of tiger conservation—including India's efforts importing tigers from Namibia and South Africa—there is a call for a high-level, transparent investigation to uncover the facts and hold those responsible accountable.

Vizianagaram Superintendent of Police Vakul Jindal sought the people's cooperation in controlling alcohol consumption in public places as it might lead to nuisance and spread the bad habit among others.

21) Title: Will you let the rice thieves go?!

Source: Sakshi
Date: 16/06/2025

Vizianagaram district: Despite repeated warnings from Deputy CM Pawan Kalyan and other ministers to act strictly against the illegal diversion of Public Distribution System (PDS) rice, serious lapses have emerged in Vizianagaram district, where large-scale PDS rice theft remains unresolved. Recently, 106 quintals of PDS rice were seized from a poultry farm in Kondakindam and 43 quintals from a mango orchard in Kindam Agraharam, both in Bondapalli mandal. The rice, meant for the poor, was found repacked in linen bags, triggering outrage. However, even ten days after the seizure on June 5, officials have failed to trace the origin of the rice or the ration shops from which it was diverted. This lack of clarity and progress has led to widespread criticism and suspicion that officials may have accepted bribes to shield those truly responsible. Locals allege a deep-rooted nexus between a district-level gang, ration dealers, and some civil supplies officials, with claims of coordinated efforts to water down the case.
